Well, good question!

Since I'm both, I'm asking as the one that gets me some answers that are allowable and don't put the company in jeopardy.

So, do I have to try door number one or door number two and hope I choose the right door to get the prize answer?

Greg,

Are you not able to share any information that is actually happening on the site OR with the progress towards the goal of have a running system?

A report on Manufacturing capability is nice and satisfies part of the tax requirement regarding RA3 Sales but only a part of the picture.

If you can't because of other reasons I understand. It just leaves a big hole in the picture but please just say you can't.

Here would be some of my questions:

1. are all of the components hooked up together? (tower/lens/rotating ball heat exchanger/piping between ball heat exchanger and 2nd shell and tube water heat exchanger/ 2nd heat exchanger to turbine/turbine generator to new circuit board/power out to monitoring device or control panel?)

2. If not, what portion is complete?

3. Was the turbine left on the tower or placed at the base of the tower (which seemed to make more design sense)?

Thanks

TO ALL: Just completed an exciting trip to Delta. We have made tons of progress in all areas. The headline on our rapower3.com reads that we are emerging as the world's leading provider of renewable energy. This will ring true. I wish all of you could have gone down with me. You would be sharing my enthusiasm.

One small example: The manufacturing plant now has 14 three-phase power outlets. I believe we will be able to produce one completed lens every minute and do it 24/7.

IMPORTANT: All of you should go to rapower3.com and login to our Member Login area. You will need your USER NAME and PASSWORD. There, you can check on tons of personal information. Make sure all of your contact info is current: address, e-mail and phone. Go to VIEW PURCHASES and make sure your account is accurate as far as payments made. You can also print out/download all of your agreements. You can even print out your invoice etc.

ONLY SIX WEEKS LEFT BEFORE THE 10% PROGRAM AND BONUS PROGRAM ENDS.
